

The International Organization of the Francophonie (OIF) represents one of the biggest linguistic zones in the world. Its mission is to embody the active solidarity between its 80 member states and governments (incl. 23 observer states), among them Switzerland. The 220 million French speakers worldwide celebrate their common language and their diversity, through many different cultural and gastronomy events. Switzerland is proud of its multiculturalism and its multilingualism (4 national languages, incl. French) and participates actively since 1989 to the OIF actions in favor of the francophonie.
