

Daniel HUNN
Ambassador of Switzerland to Iraq

Ambassador Daniel Hunn is Switzerland's representative to Iraq since September 2024.

Previously, he served as Ambassador to Bosnia and Herzegovina with residency in Sarajevo and as Ambassador to Ethiopia, Djibouti, South Sudan and the African Union with residency in Addis Abeba.

Since joining the Swiss Foreign Service in 1994, Daniel Hunn has been assigned as Deputy Chief of Mission at the Embassy of Switzerland in Washington, USA; Deputy Chief of the Americas' Division at the Swiss Federal Department of Foreign Affairs in Bern; and Head of the Economic Affairs and Science Team at the Embassy of Switzerland in Moscow, Russia.

He also served as Deputy Consul General in New York City, USA; Deputy Chief of Mission in Tashkent, Uzbekistan; and Desk Officer for Central and Eastern Europe at the Swiss Federal Department of Foreign Affairs in Bern. His first overseas posting was in Jakarta, Indonesia.

Prior to joining the Swiss Foreign Service, Daniel Hunn worked with the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) on missions in Sri Lanka, Angola, and Mali, and with the Swiss Federal Department of Defense as a staff officer to the Minister of Defense.

Daniel Hunn earned a master's degree in Economic and Social Sciences from the University of Geneva. He attained the rank of Captain and commanded an infantry company during his compulsory military service in the Swiss Army.
